

THE SOUL AND ITS MULTIPLE BODIES

Rainier: I consider then that a consciousness has the ability to replicate several souls, either one by one or perhaps in unison, generating multiple focuses of attention that expand their experience, perception, consciousness, is this true? Can a consciousness or higher self or quantum self, generates multiple souls? You can generate them one by one or you can generate several at the same time, for instance sending 2, 3 or 4 souls to the same planet or sending one to each different planet or at the same time (I'm talking about Earth's definition of linear time, although I know this is not true)?

S'warúu: That is what she does, there is only one soul, there is only one person. We are all fragments of that person, complete and at the same time fragments, that's why the definition of holographic fragments, because it maintains all the attributes of the original but in multiple fragments.

But here we have to understand something else, although from our perspective we can see ourselves as fragments because there is the concept of you and me, from the point of view of that super-soul Ether, potential energy field, original Source, or how it is calls, there is no fragment, everything is part of itself. Likewise, from 3D, being the lowest density that handles these concepts, so to speak, the idea that we are all the same person is not clear. As the density increases, this becomes more and more obvious and evident.

Since 5D, here the normal density of the physical universe, you can be in multiple places at once. This concept can be seen with the fact that you can have more than one body at a time, but it does not end there. Many 5D people have bodies here in 5D and they also have bodies in 3D, on Earth. Many 5D people have bodies here in 5D and we also HAVE bodies in 3D, on Earth. This is totally unknown to the people of Earth and to their limited science, and normal and common here. Just as 5D people can have 5D and 3D bodies, so 7D people can have 5D bodies and 3D bodies simultaneously.

Note: since I am omitting 4D and 6D as they are astral of their immediately lower densities (that is: astral 4D of 3D; and astral 6D of 5D), but above 7D this no longer occurs, in fact from 7D or only partially because there is already such a degree of unification that the same concept is dissolving in favor of operating as a whole, already very close to the original Source. Although there are no densities with 3D numbers, 5D, etc., because everything is personal and there is a density for each individual, I do use it only to clarify for the public, more than anything, and each density is shared by multiple people like an agreement.

Returning to the 5D person, who has 3D bodies, these latter may or may not know it, in themselves very few know it, it's because it goes against the intention of their other more expanded self that does know that they have what is called star seeds on Earth. This does not stop a 5D being from going down into 3D for a limited time (limited time because he/she gets sick very quickly). These concepts can be expanded in any direction because there are still many more things attached here and they are completely foreign to Earth, they exceed human understanding, they are not designed to understand these things.

Note something else, that a 5D person with a 5D body has another me there (on Earth) confers that from the human point of view, of human society it looks like 5D people, is false, because it has been found who is in 3D. And not all 5D people have their equivalents there. Although generally a 3D person is the same gender as the 5D person, sometimes they do have the opposite sex, partially explaining to homosexuals. Sometimes the 3D body is also sometimes made to look exactly like the 5D body, at least while young, but, for the most part, they do not look like the 3D body and the 5D, they look like different people outside, but not inside.

When they meet, the 3D person with their 5D equivalent causes a very strong existential conflict for the 3D person, and it is up to the 5D person to guide their equivalent. The 5D person is in 3D consciousness, understands it, sees what that person sees, but 3D cannot access what 5D does.

Every real person with a soul in 3D has its equivalent in other densities, that's how the universe works, that's why no one is alone, that's why the concepts of guardian angels who, as I said before without explaining all this (in a Agencia C smica's video), are interested in caring for a people because they are that person. They are never alone, there are also star families who care together, rarely speak directly, that is exactly what we are the crew of this ship. That is why we cannot interfere, because we cannot know what the other person has in mind, especially if it is another star race, because on Earth it is a mixture of countless star races there, all experiencing what the human being is. But there are no humans as a species, no one there is human, only the body or in his case, only the unreal people matrix parts of the program, they are human, the others with soul, no. If someone wonders if it is real or not and cares about it, it is a guarantee that it is real.

In itself the souls, as separate entities from the body, do not exist, the soul is a sign not an object or gas ball, it is how you align yourself with that sign as a person that moves you away or brings you closer to the original Source, the raising of your frequency is what determines how much signal or how much soul you still have, it is always said that you have to raise the frequency but in itself, this is misleading, because from 3D there is always something that lowers the frequency making them desperate to go up frequency again, it is not necessary, the soul is not lost like that. It is also important to be aligned with that signal, not to see things only by frequency levels, to be confident that you will always have a signal, that they are never alone. Each real person there is the divinity that they have sought so much and not for having someone in the equivalent 5D, they are worth less. From 5D their 3D equivalent is clearly the same person, but from that 3D person's point of view they do perceive their 5D equivalent as someone else. Both perspectives must be respected, both are equivalent, both are valid.

They don't need more messiahs, they don't need to be saved, they just have to stop things and align with themselves, seek their happiness together with that of others. THERE IS NOT YOU AND THERE IS NOT ME, IT IS ONLY AN ILLUSION.

Ann eka: The memories come little by little, as time goes by. Keep looking for them.
